Choice Poetry.

Written for The Columbian.

Freedom of Conscience.

BY RAVEN.

The right to worship, God has given,
And to this duty binds the soul,
Consistent is the rule of Heaven,
And, therefore, claims supreme control.

We owe to Him supreme devotion,
"Look unto me," is the command,
"And worship with sincere emotion"
But does not any form demand.

Then why should man oppress his brother
When God has left the conscience free?
Why should one persecute another,
And take away his liberty?

Why say "stand off, keep at a distance,
For I am holier than thou?"
Why offer to His faith resistance,
Because to yours he cannot bow?

Vain man, why do you judge your brother;
Has he not rights as well as you;
Why will you still his conscience bother?
And yet no better life can show.

God made him, have we not one Father?
If He is pleased to own His son,
Why not submit and own him rather
Christ's servant, though a weaker one?

We cannot always see together,
Though both be looking in the light,
It may be, sometimes, that we neither
Judge truly of the wrong and right.

Let Charity to all be given,
And let this rule to all belong.
The faith that leads us on to Heaven,
That faith, 'tis certain, can't be wrong.

—Stillwater, Pa.

The Parting.

BY GEORGE D. PRENTICE.

The signal from the distant strand
Streams o'er the waters blue—
It bids me press thy parting hand,
And breathe my last adieu;
But oft on Fancy's glowing wing
My heart will love to stray,
And still to thee with rapture spring
Though I am far away.

With thee I've wandered oft to hear,
On Summer's quiet eves,
The wild bird's music, soft and clear,
Borne through the whispering leaves;
Or see the moon's bright shadow laid
Upon the waveless bay,
Those eyes—their memory cannot fade,
Though I am far away.

My life may feel Hope's withering blight,
Yet fancy's tearful eye
Will turn to thee—the dearest light
In retrospection's sky;
And still the memory of our love,
While life was young and gay,
Will sweetly o'er my spirit move,
Though I am far away.

'Tis hard, when Spring's first flower expands,
To pass it coldly by,
Or see upon the desert sands
The gem unheeded lie;
The gentle thoughts that bless the hours
Of love can ne'er decay,
And thou wilt live in memory's bowers,
Though I am far away.

The Sun has sunk, with fading gleam,
Down evening's shadowy vale,
But see—his softened glories stream
From yonder crescent pale;
And thus affections chastened light
Will memory still display,
To gild the gloom of sorrow's night,
Though I am far away.

Miscellaneous.

LANGUAGE OF FLOWERS.

"Gather a wreath from the garden-bowers
And tell the wish of thy heart in flowers."

Flowers, from the earliest ages, have been associated with the tender sentiments of the heart and thus have often been the means of telling the tale which words dare not speak. They too have been a source of poetic inspiration, and poesy of all ages has found images of joy and beauty

"In the bright consummate flower."

"Flowers are the brightest things which earth
On her broad bosom loves to cherish;
Gay they appear as children's mirth,
Like fading dreams of hope they perish.

By them the lover tells his tale;
They can his hopes, his fears express;
The maid, when looks or words would fail,
Can thus a kind return confess.

Then lady, let the wreath we bring
For thee a wreath of beauty twine,
And as the blossoms deck the spring,
So every tender wish be thine."

THE RETIRED CONDUCTOR.—"Gris," of the Cincinnati Times, relates of an old conductor, promoted to train dispatcher, as follows: Habit was exceedingly strong with the ex-conductor. As he sat in the office he would start every time he heard a bell ring and yell, "all aboard." Then he would go about the office at intervals and try to collect fare from his assistants. We dropped in casually one afternoon, and Billy wanted to know if we had a pass. He couldn't get accustomed to his new position. He pined to be again on the road. One day he begged the boys to put him through a collision, which they did to his entire gratification. They tore his clothes nearly off, blackened his eyes, broke a kerosene lamp over his head, and piled a red-hot stove on top of him. Billy was in an ecstacy of delight, and declared he hadn't enjoyed himself so much since he had a bile.

A Good One for Smokers.

An aged negress, whose imminent piety has secured for her an extensive reputation, in walking her usual rounds of visits, dropped in upon a neighbor who was equally well known as a temperance man and a hater of tobacco.

After being courteously received, the negress pulled from her pocket a long pipe, and commenced smoking some very "Union" tobacco, to the infinite disgust of her host. The man maintained his composure several minutes, but the fumes and smoke became too powerful for him, and rising from his chair he said:

"Aunt Chloe, do you think you are a Christian?"

"Yes, brudder, I specks I is."

"Do you believe in the Bible, aun

Judge Black's Defense of Stanton.

Some time since, Henry Wilson, Senator from Massachusetts wrote an article on E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War under Mr. Lincoln, in which he claimed for the War Secretary such things, as Massachusetts Republicans may deem virtuous, but which mankind, generally, esteem as little short of crimes. Duplicity, deliberate lying, and baseness of the most despicable kind are held up for public inspection and approval. So fearfully did this praise of Wilson injure the character of the dead Secretary that Hon. Jeremiah S. Black, Attorney General under Mr Buchanan and associated with Mr. Stanton in the Cabinet at the breaking out of the Rebellion, felt it incumbent upon him to defend both Mr. Stanton and the other members of the Cabinet from the deadly laudation of the Senator from Massachusetts. He accordingly publishes an article in reply to the one written by Mr. Wilson, and very effectually overthrows that gentleman. Whereupon sundry Republican papers, headed by the New York Times, refuse to credit Mr. Black, and state that they must be guided by the "record of events." What they mean by this phrase we do not precisely understand, but what is sometimes taken as a truthful "record of events", is the record which has been prepared by such as this Mr. Wilson and others like him, with due regard that the shadows fall only where necessary to throw Republicanism into brighter light. In a word these discriminating newspapers refuse to accept the statement of a gentleman of known and accepted truthfulness and honor, who was a member of the Cabinet of which Mr. Stanton was a part, who was an eye witness and a personal hearer of what took place, but are willing to accept the views of a man who was not in the Cabinet, who possessed no especial advantages of ascertaining the true state of affairs beyond many others of his associates, and who, as far as our knowledge of his character is concerned, possesses no great ability, certainly, as his letter shows, no very high idea of what an honorable man is, and whose greatest claim upon the public admiration lies in fact the that he is, by the dispensation of Providence, United States Senator from Massachusetts.

Loyalty and Honesty.

Never was the position and morals of the leaders of the Radical party better illustrated than during the recent fight in Congress over the reconstruction of Georgia. This unfortunate State (which has had seventeen different forms of government since 1860,) on account of its Democratic leanings has been a regular foot-ball for Radical politicians, and is out and in the Union as best suits their purposes.

The Legislature has been remodelled by having a military commission turn out a number of Democratic members and putting negroes in their places, and now Congress proposes to extend their time, which, legally, will soon expire. In other words, they are afraid to permit a new election to be held, and Gov. Bullock, and other carpet baggers have been working industriously to perpetuate their power.

In order to accomplish this, $10,000 were offered for Senator Carpenter's vote, and lesser amounts for the votes of other Senators. Forney was paid several thousand dollars for the influence of his paper, and about $2,000 was paid for champagne suppers, &c., Bullock paid over $14,000 of the people's money to accomplish his iniquitous purposes.

These facts appear in a report of the Senate Judiciary Committee and is signed by such Republicans as Conkling, Trumbull, Edmunds, and Carpenter. Forney has made a bitter reply attacking these Senators personally and politically, but does not deny any of the facts alleged. What a commentory this is on Radical rule!

The New York Election.

We were prepared for a victory in New York; but did not expect the majority would reach the enormous sum of 90,000. Radical newspapers, which at first began to prate about frauds in New York City, are now dumb when they learn that our majority is 30,000, outside of that City. In speaking about the political changes the World says;

"There is something wonderful in the political changes that have taken place in the interior of the State. Cayuga County is Democratic for the first time in thirty years. Oswego County, which gave Grant 3,455 majority in 1868, has given Church 500 majority. Jefferson County gave Grant 2,538 majority, and Church now has 400 majority. Genesee County, which went for Grant by 1,407 majority, has now given a Democratic majority. More remarkable still, old Chautauqua, which has been Whig and Republican from time immemorial, is this year gathered into the Democratic fold. Grant's majority in the county in 1868 was nearly 5,000. When the final result of the election is obtained no further argument will be needed to prove that the Republican party in the State of New York has gone to pieces completely."

An Editorial Convention.

The Bellefonte Watchman has suggested the propriety of a Convention of the Democratic editors of this State in order to take action on the present condition of political affairs. We have not much faith in its accomplishing more concert of action than we now have, yet are anxious to see the Convention held. We can at least form acquaintances and exchange views.

Bellefonte would suit us as well as any other place, but the time, June 14th, is unfortunate, as the different Commanderies of Knights Templars of this State meet at that time.

Proclamation.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 24.—The President has issued the following proclamation:

By the President of the United States of America:

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, It has come to my knowledge that sundry illegal military enterprises and expeditions are being set on foot within the territory and jurisdiction of the United States with the view to carry on the same from such territory and jurisdiction against the people and district of the Dominion of Canada, within the Dominions of her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, with whom the United States is at peace.

Now, Therefore, I, Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States, do hereby admonish all good citizens of the United States, and all persons within the military jurisdiction of the United States, against aiding, countenancing, abetting, or taking part in such unlawful proceedings; and I do hereby warn all persons that, by committing such illegal acts, they will forfeit all right to the protection of this government, or to its interference in their behalf to rescue them from the consequences of their own acts. And I do hereby enjoin all officers in the service of the United States to employ all their lawful authority and power to prevent and defeat the aforesaid unlawful proceedings, and to arrest and bring to justice all persons who may be engaged therein.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington, this 24th day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy, and of the independence of the United States of America the ninety-fourth.

(Signed) U. S. GRANT.

By the President.

HAMILTON FISH, Sec'y. of State.

The Hancock-Grant-Sherman Correspondence.

On the 13th of April last, Major-General W. S. Hancock addressed the following telegraphic despatch to General W. T. Sherman, dated St. Louis;

If my rank will not entitle me to a division, and the changes in departments are such as to make it practicable, I would prefer this (St. Louis) station. I leave at once for St. Paul.

The next day the following telegram was sent in reply;

Your despatch from St. Louis has been received, and I will answer you by mail. In the contemplated change your post will not be altered.

(Signed) W. T. SHERMAN General.

The same day (April 14) General Sherman addressed the following letter to General Hancock:

GENERAL: I have laid your despatch of the 13th, from St. Louis, before the President, who authorized me to say that your wishes and claims for the succession to the command of the Military Division of the Pacific, made vacant by General Thomas's death, were fairly considered; and also your preference for the Department of the Missouri, in case of a change in its commander, was made known to him, but he has ordered otherwise.

The President authorizes me to say to you that it belongs to his office to select the commanding generals of divisions and departments, and that the relations you chose to assume towards him, officially and privately, absolve him from regarding your personal preferences.

The order announcing these changes will be made public in a very few days and they will not touch the Department of Dakota or Military Division of the Missouri. I am with respect, yours truly,

W. T. SHERMAN, General.

To this General Hancock replied, under date of St. Paul, April 27:

GENERAL: Your letter has been received, detailing the reasons the President gives why my claims to a more important command should not be regarded. I intended, by my despatch, to ask for a division of the existing divisions were all continued; otherwise, if changes made it practicable, notas a favor, but as a claim, to a command to which I thought my rank entitled me.

As the President leads me to believe that, because I have not his personal sympathy, my preferences for command will not be regarded, notwithstanding my rank, I shall not again open the subject, but will add, in conclusion, that I think it is an unfortunate precedent to establish that military rank in time of peace, especially in the assignment of general officers to commands of divisions and departments, shall not have the consideration hitherto conceded to it. I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant.

WINFIELD S. HANCOCK,
Major-General, U. S. A.

The Indian Outrages.

Some of our Radical readers were much distressed about our recent editorial on Gen. Sheridon and his associates for their participation in the Piegan Massacre. In fact one of them felt compelled to discontinue his subscription.

Since then the Press, the mouthpiece of Radicalism in this State has printed a letter from Mr. Wm. Welsh, a prominent Philadelphian, on this subject, and says editorially:

The statements of the letter are unequivocal, and, although startling perhaps to many, are well weighed and expressed temperately. Mr. Welsh undertakes most positively the defence of the Indian character, and alleges squarely that ten Indians have been murdered to one white man, and a hundred Indian women have suffered through the lusts of the border settlers to one white woman from the Indians. He goes further, and from his own experience relates the fact that the Indians now living on the reservations are not only peaceable and orderly, but good farm hands, and thoroughly Christian. This testimony of an unimpeachable living witness coincides with the cumulative evidence of history, and need not surprise any one. We have so often gone over the lessons of American history on this point that it is needless to reassert them now.

Scalawag Statesmanship.

"Mr. Hamilton, of Texas, was wholly in favor of the continuance of the military in the South, for the prevention of rebel outrages. Instead of granting amnesty to the rebel, the government should take him by the throat and knock him on the head."

We take the above from the Congressional Reports, and print it as evidence of the decency, propriety and statesmanship which characterize some of the mis-called Senators from the South. Is it any wonder that there should be bitter feelings in the re-constructed States, when such creatures as this Hamilton are permitted, unrebuked, to utter such sentiments as the above. "The rebel" as he is calls him, is, purely and simply, any Southern man, who does not endorse Radical policy and whose conscience and sense of decency and honor forbid his voting to send such men as Hamilton to the United States Senate.

Latest News.

HELENA, Montana, May 18.—A party of white men while on a pleasure trip to the Falls of the Yellowstone, had their stock stolen one night by a band of Indians, known as "Sheep Takers." They pursued the Indians at day-break. The latter hastily constructed a raft and attempted to cross the Yellowstone River. About midway across, the current took the raft down the stream, and its eighteen occupants were swept over the Falls to instant death.

NEW YORK, May 20.—Captain Hall, of the steamship Pennsylvania, was arrested on a charge of the larceny of a valuable bridal trousseau, which a young Philadelphia lady, a passenger, had entrusted to his care for passage through the custom house. When she inquired about it the captain told her the remarkable story of being overhauled by the inspectors and having the attire taken from him.

PORT JARVIS, May 19.—At eight o'clock last evening, a man named Peter Ritch, employed on a canal, was killed at Bolton Basin, two miles west of Port Jarvis. He was steering the boat, and when passing under a low foot-bridge he neglected to remove the tiller of the boat, which struck some portion of the bridge, which pulled the shabby structure to pieces, and it fell, killing him instantly. He was a German, and resided at Honesdale, Pennsylvania, where he leaves a wife and five children.

PHILADELPHIA, May 20.—The Diocesan Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church adjourned sine die this afternoon. The most important act of the Convention was their creation of a new diocese, comprising the five counties around Philadelphia, subject to the approval of the General Convention.

NEW YORK, May 21.—Thirty soldiers of the sapper corps deserted in a body from West Point on Tuesday, after receiving their monthly pay. They were disgusted at the harsh treatment received from their sergeant. A reward of $50 each is offered by the Government for their capture, and a large number of the poorer class of citizens have joined a few troops in the chase.

CHICAGO, May 19.—A gang of six or eight prisoners made a desperate attempt to escape from the State prison at Joliet, by running through a gate while a team was passing. The guard fired at them, killing two, and the balance were captured.

TRENTON, N. J., May 20.—A milk dealer named George Freeman has been convicted of libel in the Mercer county courts for publishing in the city newspapers a statement that a rival dealer named Eastburn had sold milk from diseased cows.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Senator Cameron to-day reported from committee a joint resolution appropriating the sum of $2,000 for the purchase of silver medals, to be presented to each of the surviving officers and soldiers, and the families of such as may be dead, of the Pottsville National Light Infantry, the Pottsville Washington Artillery, the Reading Ringgold Artillery, the Lewistown Logan Guard, and the Allentown Allen Infantry, who were the first troops to reach this city for its defence on April 18, 1861;

ANOTHER MURDER IN PLYMOUTH. A man named Edward Bugan was shot dead, and an other man named William Butler severely injured in a drunken row at Plymouth last Sunday morning.

ALBANY, May 24.—A Quebec special to the Troy Times says a great conflagration was raging there to-day. Over six hundred houses were burned to the ground, and thousands were rendered homeless. The Fenians had cut the wires, and no further particulars could be learned.

RUTLAND Vt., May 24.—The latest intelligence from the front is that the Fenians have crossed the line, making a stand at Pigeon Hall, the old headquarters of 1866, where they have raised as a standard the Sunburst of Erin headed with the stars and stripes.

The Fenian Raid.

A MONTPELIER, Vt., dispatch says rumors prevail there of a movement toward the frontier by the Fenians. It says, besides, there is positive information that two companies of Fenians shipped from Burlington for the frontier yesterday afternoon, and that another was en route from Plattsburg. All the double teams in St. Albans and Burlington had it is said, been secured. Buffalo dispatches say that the city is full of Fenians, billeted quietly on their friends, and that large bodies left there last night. The leaders are very reticeat, and the destination or design of the movement is a profound secret.

ALBANY, May 25.-A report has been received, dated at St. Albans Vermont, four p. m., that heavy fighting has been going on near Franklin since noon, between a force under General O'Neil and the Canadian militia.

ST. ALBANS, May 25.—This place is all excitement. Every train brings fresh arrivals of Fenians; some with arms and some without.

ST. ALBANS, May 25.—9 a. m.—Four extra trains arrived early this morning loaded with Fenians. One regiment of about 1,100 men dressed in green, and armed with rifles, revolvers and ugly looking knives. They are fine looking men, every one of whom served in the late civil war. They at once left for the front.

Reports from the different Cities show that the greatest enthusiasm prevails among the Fenians, and the Recruiting Offices are crowded with men who, as fast as they are sworn in, are sent North. The utmost reticence is observed regarding the destination of troops.

The Canadians are thoroughly alarmed, no preparations having been made to repel the invaders.

Mercur Again.

IT seems that there is really some truth in the proposed issue of a debased fractional coinage to which reference was made some days since. Mr. Mercur, of Pennsylvania, flatters the proposition in a bill to provide fifty, twenty-five, and ten cent pieces of some mongrel compound to be four-fifths of the silver value. It is to be hoped the scheme will fail.—World.

BY an act of Assembly, passed at the last session of the Legislature, Orphans' Court sales, are now made clear of all incumbrances. Purchasers can therefore buy, knowing that title can be obtained with but little trouble.

Congress.

THURSDAY, May 19.—Scarcely anything was accomplished in the Senate yesterday. A few bills and resolutions were introduced, and then the Fifteenth Amendment bills. The most important bill introduced is to facilitate the transmission of Asiatic, Australian and European merchandise to and across this country.

In the House a bill was introduced and passed to allow discharged soldiers and sailors to enter quarter sections of land under the Homestead act in the alternate reserved sections along the line of railroads and other public works to which lands have been granted The Naval Appropriation bill was considered in Committee of the Whole and passed.

FRIDAY, May 20.—In the Senate, yesterday, during the morning hour, a memorial from citizens of Rhode Island was presented, asking Congress to do away with the property qualification now binding upon naturalized white voters, and notification was given of the proposed introductions of a bill upon this subject.

In the House a resolution was introduced in reference to compelling Mexico to fulfill its treaty obligations with this country. Among the bills introduced was one proposing Custom-house facilities for the transportation of Asiatic, Australian and European merchandise across the continent. And a long discussion ensued upon providing for a Resident Minister at Rome, during which there was much excitement.

SATURDAY, May 21.—In the Senate, yesterday, the morning hour was taken up with a discussion of the House resolution for the final adjournment, on July 4. The debate resulted in the adoption of an amendment, by a vote of 35 to 21, fixing Friday, July 15, as the day.

In the House various bills were reported from the Naval Committee: one, for the relief of the officers and crew of the ship Nightingale, was passed, as was also the bill appropriating $190,000 from the Japanese indemnity fund for the compensation of the officers and men of the Kearsarge for the destruction of the Alabama. The amount already received for bounties is to be deducted.

MONDAY, May 23.—The Senate continued its session of Friday until 7 o'clock Saturday morning, when the Fifteenth Amendment bill, after being so amended, as one Senator remarked, "as to be past all recognition," was finally passed and substituted for the House bill by a vote of 43 to 8.

In the House, various petitions for the abolition of the national banks, and in reference to the public debt, were presented. The Louisiana contested election case—Newsham vs. Ryan—was again discussed, and the report of the majority, declaring the former elected to the seat, was finally agreed to by a vote of 78 to 72.

TUESDAY, May 24.—In the Senate, yesterday, the morning hour was devoted to the discussion of the sixteenth section of the Fifteenth Amendment bill. Several amendments to the appropriation bill were adopted, among them one giving the President authority to sendan expedition to the North Pole, and appropriating $100,000 to meet the expenses.

In the House considerable business was disposed of. Among a large number of new bills introduced were the following: To detect and punish election frauds; and reducing the rates of duty on foreign imports. A motion to suspend the rules for the introduction of a bill looking to a reduction of import duties on sugar, tea, coffee, salt and iron, was lost, the vote standing 102 to 80, less than the two thirds required.

WEDNESDAY, May 25.—In the Senate, the legislative appropriation bill was discussed.

In the House, a bill for the reduction of internal taxes was introduced. At 1 40 p. m. the House went into committee on the diplomatic appropriation bill. After the committee rose it was reported to the House and passed.

—Marshal Soult, once showing the pictures he stole in Spain, stopped before one and remarked: "I value that picture very much; it saved the lives of two very estimable persons." An aid-de-camp whispered in the listener's ear: "He threatened to have them both shot immediately unless they gave it up."

Lines on the Death of Jeffie McHenry.

One more taken from our number,
One more fall'n in peaceful slumber,
One more torn from our embrace,
We will not on earth behold his face.

He was a fresh and blooming flower,
But ah, he withered in an hour;
So young he had to face the foe,
But young or old we all must go.

You watched him in his gentle youth,
Oft taught him words of loving truth;
But soon around his dying bed,
Parents, sisters, brothers all were led.

He has left this world of toil and sin
A better world to enter in,
And there 'mid angels decked in bright array
Your Jeffie's spirit is to day.

Ah yes dear friends while you are weeping
He in Jesus is sweetly sleeping.
And there his soul remains above
Where all is joy and peace and love.

NSHIP STATEMENTS.—According provisions of a law passed by the ature of 1868, township auditors quired each spring to make out ublish a full and complete state- of the financial condition of their ive townships, under a penalty y dollars. VITALITY.—In September of last year, several large branches were cut from the willow trees in front of Judge Elwell's residence on Third Street, and placed in a pile beside the fence. We noticed in passing the, other day, that these branches have sent forth leaves from one end to the other. Some of the branches are piled at least a foot above the ground. This is, decidedly, pluck under discouraging circumstances. We have no doubt that if a fence were made of such wood, a grove of trees would eventualy make its appearance.

NOTE SHAVERS AND THE INTERNAL REVENUE.—Persons who shave notes are liable to special tax of broker. A may have an office where he does business, B. having none, but buying as opportunity offers, upon the street or elsewhere. If they make it their business—and it is not necessary that it should be their sole business, or even their principal one—they are each liable to be assessed in respect thereof to special tax of broker. The payment of no other special tax, excepting that of banker, covers the business of a broker. A broker pays a special tax of $50, and for failure to apply for and pay before transacting business, the penalties of the law apply as in all cases of neglect to pay special taxes.

ROBBERS.—We had hoped that our town would be free, for a time at least, from any further depredations,after the excitement caused by the burglaries of a week ago, but it would seem that there are some pilferers left yet. On Sunday night last an attempt was made to rob the smoke house of M. C. Sloan on Market Street, which, fortunately, was unsuccessful. Suspicious characters have been discovered at unseemly hours near other buildings in town, although we have heard of no losses sustained. It would be a good thing to capture a genuine robber and give him such a term of service for the State as would be a healthy warning to future aspirants for other people's goods.

DISASTER.—Last Friday evening our worthy Sheriff was seen coming into town in a most deplorable plight, leading his horses, instead of driving them. It happened on this wise; his buggy, which, probably, receives harder and more continuous usage than any other in the county, finally became disgusted at its treatment and "kicker gin out," one of the wheels disconnecting itself and seceding from the rest of the concern. The horses fortunately did not offer to run away, doubtless because they were pleased to get rid of the buggy altogether. The process of reconstruction has been commenced and the vehicle, barring "a gentle odor of mild decay" will probably be in as good order as it was before it broke down. This sort of a conveyance is a perfect god-send to carriage builders.

THE following bill, passed by our late Legislators at Harrisburg, will protect deserted wives and bring erring and careless husbands to their senses:

SEC. 1. That whensoever any husband from drunkenness, profligacy or other course whatsoever, shall for two successive years desert his wife or neglect or refuse to live with her and provide for her, she shall as to every species and description of property, whether real, personal or mixed, owned by or belonging to her, have all the rights and privileges of a femme sole, to purchase or sell and convey the same, as if she were sole and unmarried.

SEC. 2. That it shall be lawful for any married woman as aforesaid, to sue and be sued in her own name upon all such contracts as aforesaid, heretofore made or to be made, and to sue in her own name her husband, to recover the possession of her real estate, or the value thereof, as if she were sole and unmarried.

HAIL STORM.—A violent hail storm occurred on Saturday last, in parts of this county, causing much damage to trees, glass and growing grain. At Col. H. R. Kline's near Orangeville the windows were broken, trees stripped of half their leaves and the grain injured. Sheriff Millard lost his entire crop of wheat from his farm in Centre township. The storm was especially severe in Mifflin where the hail fell in such quantities that heaps were found, after the storm, of six or seven inches in depth. Great damage was done to grain. In Scranton, the storm was accompanied by vivid flashes of lightning; two men were struck senseless, one of them having his boot ripped completely off of his foot, and another, George Van Loon, was instantly killed while standing near a window in his house.

In Iowa, many persons are reported killed and immense damage done to trees and crops; cattle, hogs, &c. were killed in large numbers.

The country has not known for many years such numerous and violent falls of hail.

IMPORTANCE OF ADVERTISING.—A cotemporary says business men should have bill-heads, letter-heads, etc. Of course they should. There's nothing pays better than the little money necessary to procure them. Of all the savings made by unwise business men that of sparing printer's ink is the most extravagant. And so those people, especially, who have houses to rent or sell, and horses or cows to dispose of, and who stick a contemptible scrawl on a fence or in a post-office, in order to save the dollar's cost of a handbill, lose ten times as much as the printing would cost. A man may want the horse or cow, but he is afraid that a man so mean as to begrudge the mere cost of printing, will forget to tell him about the heaves of the one, or the unruliness of the other, and ten to one the house leaks or is in danger of tumbling down. If you save the pennies which wise men spend in printing, the pounds of profit will take sufficient care of themselves to keep out of your pockets.

THE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—About sixty of the 1200 members of the Columbia County Agricultural Society met at the Court House on last Saturday afternoon. The meeting was called to order by Jacob Harris, the President of the Society. The Secretary then made a statement of the financial condition of the Society. About $1400 are in the hands of the Treasurer, numerous repairs and unusual expenditures having reduced the amount to that sum. It was shown that the receipts and business of the Society were increasing annually. The nomination for officers having been declared in order Messrs. W. B. Koons and Mathias Hartman were placed in nomination. Mr. Koons received 39 votes out of sixty and was therefore declared elected. The following nominations were then made for Vice Presidents, four of whom were to be elected. Messrs. Isaac Heacock, Sylvester Pursel, E. J. McHenry, John Leacock, E. R. Ikeler, T. J. Swisher, Elisha Hayman, William Shaffer and J. P. Conner. The votes were very much scattered, but Messrs. Conner, Shaffer, Pursel and McHenry having received the highest number of votes were declared elected.

The following gentlemen were elected as the Executive Committee without opposition, viz. R. F. Clark, James Kester, and H. R. Kline.

After some discussion the salary of the Secretary was fixed at $100.00 per annum, there being but one dissenting vote. L. B. Rupert, J. J. Brower, and W. C. McKinney were then placed in nomination. The ballot resulted as follows. Rupert, 6; Brower, 44; McKinney, 32. Mr. Brower was therefore elected.

Dr. Bradley then moved that the Treasurer be allowed the use of the Society money as his salary. Mr. Neal moved to amend by fixing the salary at $75.00 per annum, and the motion then carried as amended. Elias Meadenhall was elected Treasurer without opposition, and B. F. Hartman was continued as Librarian. The Society then adjourned, after which the Executive Committee held a session.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.—On Saturday last, as a son of Mr. Jacob Bauer, of Plainfield township, this county, aged about 12 years, was engaged in rolling a field of clover on his father's farm, he accidentally slipped from the machine, the whole weight of which passed over his body. His lifeless body was found by an older brother with the whole weight of the machine resting upon the unfortunate victim's head.—Easton Free Press.

I. O. of O. F.—The Grand Lodge again met on Tuesday morning, at the hall, Sixth, below Race streets in Philadelphia. Grand Master Samuel F. Gwinner occupied the chair.

The business transacted was of a private character, and of interest only to members of the order. In the afternoon the following named officers were installed for the ensuing year.

M. W. G. Master.—John B. Springer, of No. 127.

R. W. D. G. Master.—Albert Slack, of No. 241.

R. W. G. Warden.—William Stedman, of No. 113.

R. W. G. Secretary.—James B. Nicholson, of No. 100.

R. W. G. Treasurer.—M. Richards Muckle, of No. 46.

R. W. G. R. G. L. U. S.—Robert A. Lamberton.

A QUERY.—A exchange asks the following: "Does it never occur to those who wish to use the columns of the press for the advancement of their peculiar views upon any subject, that they ought at least to become paying patrons of the paper, before claiming the privilege? Publishers often receive communications, the publicity of which will interest nobody half as much as the writers, with the request to "insert and send copy to the author's address." This is modest, we admit. But in the case of these gentlemen, who never do anything towards sustaining the press, we would ask how they expect a vehicle for the dissemination of their thoughts could be sustained if the community were all like themselves?"

All publishers know that the men who continually find fault with a newspaper, as well as those who wish to use it most for their own interest, are those who do the least to support and sustain the paper.

ORGAN CONSECRATION.—On my way to church last Sunday, I passed the Reformed Church, Third Street, and an extraordinary crowd being assembled at the entrance, I asked if something unusual was going on there. They told me, that the Mite Society of that congregation had purchased a new organ, and that this very morning it was to be dedicated. Never having assisted at such a ceremony, I entered and was pleased to see a pretty, well arranged, well furnished and well kept edifice, occupied by a numerous assemblage.

Rev. F. J. Mohr, the Pastor of the Church, opened the service with a short prayer, whereupon the choir sang most acceptably a very good hymn, without the accompaniment of the instrument, which should not be touched before its dedication. It was then consecrated, and solemnly given to the exclusive use of assisting in the worship of God, whereupon the choir closed with a powerful Hallelujah, Amen! A beautiful chant was then sung,and, after the reading of the Scriptures, a fine Solo with chorus was performed from the Oratoris of Daniel, "How lovely is Zion." Miss Mintie Sharpless had the great kindness to sing the Solo, and sang it with exquisite taste and great precision.

Rev. Mr. Mohr preached a very good, appropriate sermon on this occasion, urging with especial emphasis, that not all the praying should be done at one end, and all the singing done at the other end of the church; but as every hearer should pray with the minister, so should every one sing with the choir and the House of God be filled with the praise of God! We agree heartily with the Reverend gentleman, and have uttered the same opinion on several occasion.

With good Old Hundred and some fine playing by Dr. E. A. Ludwig, Professor at our Normal School, showing forth the various excellencies of the new acquisition, the ceremony was closed.

All prosperity to this church, and our hearty thanks to Pastor, Organist, Choir and the able maker of the finest Cabinet Organ we ever heard, a Mr. J. R. Perry, of Wilkes-Barre.

DECORATION OF SOLDIERS' GRAVES.—At a regular stated meeting of Washington Camp, No. 38, Patriotic Order Sons of America, held in their Hall, in Bloomsburg, Friday evening, May 20th 1870, the following Preamble and Resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The 30th day of May, has been set apart as a National holiday for the purpose of strewing flowers on the graves of those patriotic sons of America who sacrificed their lives in defense of our common country during the late rebellion, and for the further purpose of honoring the memory of those noble citizen soldiers.

And whereas, The Patriotic Order Sons of America hold as a cardinal principal the inculcation and cultivation of sentiments of reverence for the Constitution, laws, and fundamental doctrine of our American system of government, the best in existence,

And Whereas, It is therefore the duty of our Order not only by words, but by deeds also, to bear testimony to the faithfulness of those whose deeds were worth more than professions: therefore TERRIBLE FALL.—On Tuesday night last, Patrick Casey, an employee at the furnace of McKelvy, Neal & Co., whilst at work at the top of the furnace, stepped on the platform on which the trucks are raised, but having neglected to leave steam enough on, to hold the platform in position, it fell with him. He caught with his hands on the timbers, but the gate dropped, striking him on the head and precipitating him half way to the ground, where he struck the platform, which became stationary at that point, whence he fell to the ground. The total distance from the top to the spot where he was found was nearly fifty feet. Strange to say no bones were broken, and, although he is fearfully bruised and sore, no immediate fear of his death is felt. It is remarkable that he was not killed outright, as in reality he had two falls of twenty-five feet each, either of which would seem to be sufficient to destroy life.

VAN AMBURGH & Co's MENAGERIE.—Friday, the 3d of June, is the day upon which Van Amburgh & Co's great Golden Menagerie is to visit Bloomsburg, and as it is unquestionably an establishment of great magnitude its advent will be anticipated with interest by old and young. The collection of animals is not only the most extensive ever brought together in this country, but it includes many new varieties of animated nature that have never before been seen here. Wherever it goes it receives the warmest commendation of the press. The following notice is taken from the Harrisburg Patriot of Tuesday last:

"Van Amburg & Co. came into this city yesterday, according to announcement, making a splendid display as they passed through our streets. In the afternoon, in spite of the disagreeable weather, there was a very large audience present at the exhibition, and at night the crowd was still greater. Not less than seven thousand people probably visited the menagerie during the entertainment, and the opinion already expressed through these columns in regard to the merits of the establishment, were fully endorsed by every one whom we have heard speak upon the subject. It is really a magnificent exhibition, and intelligence and good taste are manifested in all its departments. Van Amburgh & Co. have always held a reputation of the very highest character, but their menagerie the present season is an advance upon everything that they have hitherto presented to the public. Interesting, instructive and admirably managed, the Golden Menagerie cannot fail to command the good will and support of the community wherever it may go. There is a genuineness about the whole affair that is particularly refreshing in these days of humbug, and it is gratifying to note that the liberal and praiseworthy policy of the proprietors meets with due appreciation from the public."

STORE LOAFERS.—Many men of unquestioned respectability, and who would not knowingly do anything ungentlemanly, are in the habit of spending a great deal of their spare time in the various stores at which they are accustomed to do their trading, to discuss the various topics of the day. Becoming interested in the subjects under consideration, they spend hours where they had tho't of staying but a few moments and attract others to listen to their conversation, until in many instances the store they are patronizing is uncomfortably full, and customers are driven away For who does not know that ladies especially dislike to go into a business place which is filled with a crowd of men earnestly engaged in discussions more noisy than elegant, and where they are in many cases compelled to listen to words which to say the least are not the most refined found in Webster? Several store-keepers have complained to us of the monopoly of their business places by men whom they respect and with whom they like to converse, but whose room would often be better than their company, on account of the injury to their business from the frequency and length of their calls.—Millonian.

Those who desire a really good and reliable machine should buy the Singer, with it all the family sewing can be done in the best manner and in a short time. The agent at this place receives them by the dozen. THE YOUNG FOLKS.

The Frog Prince.

In the olden time, when wishing was having, there lived a King, whose daughters were all beautiful; but the youngest was so exceedingly beautiful that the Sun himself, although he saw her very often, was enchanted every time she came out into the sunshine.

Near the castle of this King was a large and gloomy forest, and in the midst stood an old lime-tree, beneath whose branches splashed a little fountain; so, whenever it was very hot, the King's youngest daughter ran off into this wood, and sat down by the side of this fountain; and, when she felt dull, would often divert herself by throwing a golden ball up in the air and catching it. And this was her favourite amusement.

Now, one day it happened, that this golden ball, when the King's daughter threw it into the air, did not fall down into her hand, but on the grass; and then it rolled past her into the fountain. The King's daughter followed the ball with her eyes, but it disappeared beneath the water, which was so deep that no one could see to the bottom. Then she began to lament, and to cry louder and louder; and, as she cried, a voice called out, "Why weepest thou, O King's daughter? thy tears would melt even a stone to pity," And she looked around to the spot whence the voice came, and saw a Frog stretching his thick ugly head out of the water. "Ah! you old water-paddler," said she, "was it you that spoke? I am weeping for my golden ball which has slipped away from me into the water."

"Be quiet, and do not cry" answered the Frog; "I can give thee good advice. But what wilt thou give me if I fetch thy plaything up again?"

"What will you have dear Frog?" said she. "My dresses, my pearls and jewels, or the golden crown which I wear?"

The Frog answered, "Dresses, or jewels, or golden crown, are not for me; but if thou wilt love me, and let me be thy companion and playfellow, and sit at thy table, and eat from thy little golden plate, and drink out of thy cup, and sleep in thy little bed.—if thou wilt promise me all these, then will I dive down and fetch up thy golden ball."

"Oh, I will promise you all," said she, "if you will only get me my ball." But she thought to herself, "What is the silly Frog chattering about? Let him remain in the water with his equals; he cannot mix in society." But the Frog, as soon as he had received her promise, drew his head under the water and dived down. Presently he swam up again with the ball in his mouth, and threw it on the grass. The King's daughter was full of joy when she again saw her beautiful plaything; and, taking it up, she ran off immediately. "Stop! Stop!" cried the Frog; "take me with thee. I cannot run as thou canst." But all his croaking was useless; although it was loud enough, the King's daughter did not hear it, but, hastening home, soon forgot the poor Frog, who was obliged to leap back into the fountain.

The next day, when the King's daughter was sitting at the table with her father and all his courtiers, and was eating from her own little golden plate, something was heard coming up the marble stairs, splish-splash, splish-splash; and when it arrived at the top, it knocked at the door, and a voice said, "Open the door, thou youngest daughter of the King!" So she rose and went to see who it was that called her; but when she opened the door and caught sight of the Frog, she shut it again with great vehemence, and sat down at the table, looking very pale. But the king preceived that her heart was beating violently, and asked her whether it were a giant who had come to fetch her away who stood at the door. "Oh, n o!" answered she; "it is no giant, but an ugly Frog."

"What does the Frog want with you?" said the King.

"Oh, dear father, when I was sitting yesterday playing by the fountain, my golden ball fell into the water, and this Frog fetched it up again because I cried so much: but first, I must tell you, he pressed me so much, that I promised him he should be my companion. I never though that he could come out of the water, but somehow he has jumped out, and now he wants to come in here."

At that moment there was another knock, and a voice said,—

"King's daughter, youngest,
Open the door,
Hast thou forgotten
Thy promises made
At the fountain so clear
'Neath the lime-tree's shade?
King's daughter, youngest,
Open the door."

Then the King said, "What you have promised, that you must perform; go and let him in." So the King's daughter went and opened the door, and the Frog hopped in after her right up to her chair: and as soon as she was seated, the Frog said, "Take me up" but she hesitated so long that at last the King ordered her to obey. And as soon as the Frog sat on the chair he jumped on to the table and said, "Now push thy plate near me, that we may eat together." And she did so, but as every one saw, very unwillingly. The Frog seemed to relish his dinner much, but every bit that the King's daughter ate nearly choked her, till at last the Frog said, "I have satisfied my hunger and feel very tired; wilt thou carry me upstairs now into thy chamber, and make thy bed ready that we may sleep together?" At this speech the King's daughter began to cry, for she was afraid of the cold Frog, and dared not touch him; and besides, he actually wanted to sleep in her own beautiful, clean bed.

But her tears only made the King very angry, and he said, "He who helped you in the time of your trouble, must not now be despised!" So she took the Frog up with two fingers, and put him in a corner of her chamber. But as she lay in her bed, he crept up to it, "I am so very tired that I shall sleep well; do take me up or I will tell thy father." This speech put the King's daughter in a terrible passion, and catching the Frog up, she threw him with all her strength against the wall, saying, "Now, will you be quiet, you ugly Frog!"

But as he fell he was changed from a frog into a handsome Prince with beautiful eyes, who after a little while became, with her father's consent, her dear companion and betrothed. Then he told her how he had been transformed by an evil witch, and that no one but her self could have had the power to take him out of the fountain; and that on the morrow they would go together into his own kingdom.

The next morning, as the sun rose, a carriage drawn by eight white horses, with ostrich feathers on their heads, and golden bridles, drove up to the door of the palace, and behind the carriage stood the trusty Henry, the servant of the young Prince. When his master was changed into a frog, trusty Henry had grieved so much that he had bound three iron bands round his heart, for fear it should break with grief and sorrow. But now that the carriage was ready to carry the young Prince to his own country, the faithful Henry helped in the bride and bridegroom, and placed himself in the seat behind, full of joy at his master's release. They had not proceeded far when the Prince heard a crack as if something had broken behind the carriage; so he put his head out of the window and asked Henry what was broken, and Henry answered, "It was not the carriage, my master, but a band which I bound round my heart when it was in such grief b cause you were changed into a frog."

Twice afterwards on the journey there was the same noise, and each time the Prince thought that it was some part of the carriage that had given way; but it was only the breaking of the bands which bound the heart of the trusty Henry, who was thenceforward free and happy.

FARMER'S COLUMN.

Raise Sheep—Eat Mutton.

Good mutton, well-fattened and neatly butchered, is the most wholesome, nutritious and cheapest of meats. It grows quickly, and costs little to produce it, compared with beef and pork. Every farmer should have a few long-wooled Cosset sheep, at least—Cotswold or Leicester. They are little trouble, and will keep fat on the orts of the cattle. They usually bring twin lambs, which will sell to the butchers for from $8 to $10 by the first of July. Their fleece averages from eight to fourteen pounds, with from sixteen to twenty-five per cent. shrinkage only. Their wool is now, and will be, in the future, worth thirty per cent. more than merino sheep, which shrinks 45 to 60 per cent., according to the family and treatment of the flock. Long wool makes strong, excellent and durable stocking yarn, though it is mostly used to make the brilliant, light and lustrous Orleans goods, for the apparel of our pretty women. Two such sheep will yield as much profit as a common cow, and five of them can be kept as cheap as a cow in milk. Their lambs and mutton would keep a farmer supplied with the best of fresh meat of any kind, as often as is necessary, the year round, and would make an agreeable episode to the eternal round of salt junk and pork, and be far more healthy than either. Those who eat principally salted meats show it in their complexion, their skin being less fair and smooth. Pork, at best, eaten constantly, produces irritation and eruptions of the skin.

We have now a plenty of sheep in the country—over 32,000,000 head (more than ever before, according to the population.) Then let all manufacturers, mechanics, and all men who are interested in having good meat and the board of operatives cheap and wholesome, see to it that mutton raising and wool growing are properly encouraged, as a matter of health and economy. Meat is a great item in the expense of board of operatives, etc. If we grow our own wool we shall always have mutton plenty and cheap. This will affect materially the price of other meat.—Farm and Fireside.

Hilling Corn.

It is surprising that the barbarous old practice of hilling up corn should still find advocates and followers. After years of effort on the part of the intelligent portion of the agricultural and horticultural press, it is now pretty well understood that it will not do to continually plow and injure the surface roots of fruit trees in the orchard. But we have heard intelligent men say that though they would disturb an orchard as little as possible in this way, yet corn was quite another matter. But the laws which govern the nutrition of plants are pretty much the same all through. Roots love darkness, and yet wish to be as near as possible to the surface; and whether it is the root of an apple tree or the root of a cornstalk, makes no difference in the working of this law. If we plough deep and cut surface roots, the deeper ones are unable to reap any benefit from the atmosphere; and those covered by the soil ploughed over them are in just the same position. This is the "science" of the thing. But better than all is the experience of those who have tried the matter by careful and intelligent experiments. So far as we know, every such test has resulted in favor of flat culture and against hilling up.

It is very fashionable to rail at "mere theorists;" yet we believe that many of our absurdest practices have resulted in the most commonplace theories, and that this is one of them. Some one probably noted the little rootlets coming out of the joints above the soil, and thought they wanted earth to cover them. Hilling was started in the "theory" that it was "helping nature;" or it may have originated with some lazy fellow who thought he would not hoe or harrow early, but wait a little longer, and then one good ploughing would do the whole job.

However, no matter how it originated, it is a mistakenly bad practice, and should be left to go the way of many absurd things.

Healthfulness of Apples.

There is scarcely an article of vegetable food more widely useful and more universally liked than the apple. Why every farmer has not an orchard, where the trees will grow at all, is one of the mysteries. Let every house-keeper lay in a good supply of apples, and it will be the most economical investment in the whole range of culinaries. A raw, mellow apple is digested in an hour and a half, while boiled cabbage requires five hours. The most healthful dessert that can be placed on the table is a baked apple. If eaten frequently at breakfast, with coarse bread and butter without flesh of any kind, it has an admirable effect on the general system, often removing constipation, correcting acidities, and cooling off febrile conditions more effectually than the most approved medicines. If families could be induced to substitute apples—sound and ripe—for pies, cakes, and sweetmeats, with which their children are too frequently stuffed—there would be a diminution in the sum total of doctor's bills, in a single year, sufficient to lay in a stock of this delicious fruit for the whole season's use.

This medicine is prepared by Dr. Levi Oberholtzer of Philadelphia, and formerly of Phœnixville, Pa., and although it has only been offered for five years, more than one million bottles have already been sold, and the demand for it is increasing every day. Many of the Retail Druggists buy it in lots of five gross, and not a few of the Country Storekeepers try one gross at a time. Nearly every one who has ever sold it testifies to its popularity, and nearly all who have used it, bear testimony to its wonderful power in curing Cough. We are confident that there is no known medicine of such great value to the community as the Phœnix Pectoral.

It has cured cases of the most painful and distressing cough, of years standing.

It has given instant relief in spells of coughing.

It has instantly stopped the paroxysm of Whooping Cough, and greatly shortened its duration.

It has cured Croup in a few minutes.

Consumption has been cured by it, where all other remedies had failed to do good.

Hoarseness has been cured by it in a single night.

Many physicians recommend it, and others use it themselves and administer it in their practice while others oppose it because it takes away their business.

We recommend it to our readers and for further particulars, would refer you to the circular around the bottle where you will find numerous certificates by persons who have used it.

It is so pleasant to the taste that children cry for it.

It is a stimulating expectorant, giving strength at the same time that it allays the cough.

The proprietor of this medicine has so much confidence in its curative powers from the testimony of thousands who have used it that the money will be refunded to any purchaser who is not satisfied with the effects.
